REPORT ON CROP AND WEATHER CONDITIONS

Horticultural Branch Provincial Department of Agriculture

Vernon, B.C., Aug. 7, 1921.

Salmon Arm and Main Line

Transcendent Crabs and Dueshes are pretty well cleaned up. A light picking of Wealthies is being made in some orchards this week, but picking will not become general until the middle of next week.

Several good showers have fallen during the last few days, and the fruit is beginning to take on colour fast.

Plums, cucumbers, corn and tomatoes are moving out.

Vernon

Transcendent crabs are about over. The quality has been excellent, much better than last year, and the quantity has been slightly over the earlier estimates. Hyslops will be in the middle of next week. Wealthy picking has commenced and will be in full swing the first of the week.

Some prunes are moving from the Oyama section. The weather has been showery up until Wednesday of this week, and the bright sunshine and the cool nights of the past few days has made a marked difference in the colour of the fruit. McIntosh are colouring well and where they have been sufficiently thinned, on thrifty trees are sizing well.

Cover crops are doing particularly well, and a considerably greater interest is being taken this year in the sowing of vetch and other legumes cover crops than ever before.

Kelowna

A steady rain fell on Tuesday, the 23rd inst., and the soil has been fairly well soaked. Tomatoes have cracked slightly but are of good quality. Canning tomatoes are coming in well and without an early frost will make a good pack. Semi-ripe and greens are moving very slowly owing to congested market.

Transcendent crabs are finished. Hyslops will be ready in about eight days. First picking of Wealthies in, they are of good size but could show more colour. McIntosh should be a good crop, expected to be ready about September 15th.

Bradshaw, Columbia and Pond's Seedling plums will be ready in a few days.

Early peaches are over. Yellow St. John and Early Crawford now being shipped. Elbertas should be ready in about ten days, prospects good.

Only a few potatoes moving in mixed cars. Onions moving slowly in small quantities. No sale for carrots, cabbage, beets, cukes.

Cover crops of Vetch and Rye sown in July and early August are showing up well in the orchards. There will be considerable acreage sown to cover crops this week. Some alfalfa is going in, some vetch, and for later sowing rye is being used.

Spring sown alfalfa has made a good stand in orchards where it received enough moisture.

Penticton and Keremeos

In Keremeos section the weather has been showery for the past few days and has interfered slightly with picking. Flemish Beauty and Bartlett about at the peak. Crabs and plums are also moving in considerable quantities. Apples are sizing well and showing a good deal of colour. The yield of potatoes does not promise to be as heavy as expected, although the quality will be good.

In Penticton district the early and mid-season peaches are practically over, and some Elbertas may possibly come in towards the end of the month, which is earlier than usual.

Bartlett and Flemish Beauty Pears are moving in quantity. Clapp's Favorite being about over. For the past two or three days the weather has been showery and will help fall-sown cover crops a great deal as well as apples.

NEW-STYLE PLANES FOR LONDON-PARIS SERVICE

PARIS, Sept. 1.—Experiments will shortly be made with a view to organizing a Paris-London air service with amphibious machines able to carry passengers from the centre of one city to the centre of the other. Convenient points will be chosen on the Thames and the Seine, and the landings will be effected upon the water.

SCHOOLS OPEN ON TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 6

Few Changes in Teaching Staff—Improvements in Sanitation

After more than two months' holidays, enjoyed for the most part in summer weather such as the juvenile heart delights in, the pupils of Kelowna and district will return to the pursuit of their studies on Tuesday next.

The Kelowna High School staff will be as constituted during last term. Miss Caldwell, who has gone through a severe illness, is now convalescent and will be able to resume her duties.

Miss Muriel Page and Miss Margaret Bell, of the Public School staff, have resigned, their places being filled by the appointment of Mrs. Julia Asher and Miss Margaret E. Jackson. Miss Mowat, Domestic Science teacher, also resigned on account of her marriage to Mr. S. M. Simpson, and Miss Lilian E. King has been appointed in her stead.

The sanitary arrangements at the Public School have long been cause for complaint by parents and public bodies, and an effort has been made to remedy the conditions without undertaking the very costly work of installing sewer connections. At the time the school was built toilet accommodation was provided in the basement, in the expectation that connection would be made to the sewerage system. Owing to the financial stringency which ensued, however, this could not be carried out and it was necessary to install outside closets. A septic tank has now been constructed, with which the sanitary conveniences have been connected, and it is hoped that this arrangement will work satisfactorily until such time as the City is in a financial position to extend the sewerage system.

An 80-foot flag-pole secured about three years ago but not erected was put in position during the vacation, the work being carried out by Mr. James Miller. It will display a new flag supplied by the Department of Education, which will be hoisted for the first time on Tuesday.

"CANADIAN IMPORTER" HAS BEEN FOUND

VANCOUVER, Sept. 1.—The missing Canadian Government freighter, "Canadian Importer," has been found by the steamer "Canadian Observer" adrift on the Pacific with thirty-four men on board. It is expected that she will be towed to Esquimalt. The "Importer" has been in distress on the ocean for two weeks and hope of finding her had almost been abandoned. Eleven men who left the steamer in a lifeboat are still missing.

QUIET REIGNS ONCE MORE IN BELFAST

BELFAST, Sept. 1.—At noon today Belfast was quiet. The fierce sectarian warfare that flared up on Tuesday, despite the truce, has apparently died away, leaving the city to face a death roll of sixteen, with more than one hundred in hospital and a bill for damages amounting to many thousands of pounds. Armed patrols are keeping order in the streets and the city is still under military control.

Carters and motormen issued an ultimatum to the authorities today declaring that they would withdraw entirely from the streets unless afforded protection. Tramcar drivers are also affected by the decision. Two members of the Drivers' Union were killed in the rioting of the past few days and seven were wounded.

DOMINION ELECTION PERHAPS IN DECEMBER

OTTAWA, Sept. 1.—The general opinion expressed in political circles here today is that at a great political meeting at London, Ont., tonight, Premier Meighen will announce the dissolution of Parliament with a general election probably in December. There will be an intensive campaign of about three months with the tax as the principal item. Cabinet reconstruction is to take place immediately, and several of the present ministers, it is understood, will go to the Senate, where there are nine vacancies.

The decision to hold the election before redistribution is said to be due to an announcement that the complete census returns will not be ready before December and to the Premier's belief that, with a number of by-elections ahead and possibilities of sickness and vacancies, his majority is becoming too small to carry on the work of government satisfactorily.

WESTBANK

Last Thursday evening a small crowd of Westbank dancers got on their glad-rags and attended the orchestra dance held at Peachland, and had a very enjoyable time.

Miss Jean Brown spent a few days in Kelowna last week.

A large crowd of picnickers spent last Saturday afternoon at the creek, where they had a splendid corn feast. The picnic was attended by individuals from the following families: McIntosh, Mackay, Jones, Brown, Moffat, Ewer and Clarke. Many thanks are given to Mrs. Ewer, who, after the picnic, invited the crowd to her place, where music and dancing was carried on until half-past eleven.

The Westbank Scouts are now coming forward by leaps and bounds. Last Thursday evening Scoutmaster C. James came over from Kelowna and a meeting of the Local Association was held. At this meeting they decided to get a town lot and on this build quarters for the Scouts. A collection was taken and between them they managed to get about forty dollars, which shows the Scouts have their greatest interest. Also Mr. R. B. Gore, Junior, was given the rank of Asst. Scoutmaster to the joy of all the Scouts.

Last Friday evening the Scouts assembled on the flats here, and as soon as it was dark they played Scout games which they all enjoyed.

The Scouts are now looking forward to the trip into the mountains, thanks to Mr. Gore, who is helping them out a great deal.

Last Sunday a small party of sight-seers motored to Oroville, by way of Keremeos, and had a splendid day for the trip.

A crowd of picnickers assembled at the lake last Saturday afternoon for their swim, which was followed by a supper which they all enjoyed.

Mr. Gore and P. L. Drought went into the hills on Monday last in order to find a suitable camping ground for the Scouts when on their hike.

Mr. and Mrs. Pritchard motored to Summerland on Sunday last.

POLAND AND LITHUANIA AGREE ON VILNA

GENEVA, Sept. 1.—The dispute between Poland and Lithuania regarding Vilna was settled by representatives of the two countries this morning. They agreed that there shall be two districts, one of Kovno, which will be independent, and the other Vilna, in which the Poles will supervise administration.

ITALY TO ATTEND WASHINGTON CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The Italian government has formally accepted President Harding's invitation to participate in the Washington conference for international reduction of armament and discussion of Pacific and Far Eastern questions. The acceptance completes the list of nations invited to take part.

B.C. AND N.S. VIE IN WESTERN APPLE TRADE

WINNIPEG, Sept. 1.—Competition between British Columbia and Nova Scotia for the apple trade of the Middle West has reached unprecedented limits, and with the advantage of a shorter haul the western growers are gaining ground. S. S. Selfridge, representing the United Fruit Company of Nova Scotia, stated today. Despite the competition, however, eastern growers are still doing business in the west, he said, though turning their principal efforts to the demand of the eastern United States.

HUNGER STRIKE BY LETHBRIDGE JAIL INMATE

LETHBRIDGE, Sept. 1.—For the first time in the history of the provincial jail at Lethbridge an inmate is staging a hunger strike. Capt. Janney, who is being held without bail pending his trial on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses as the result of efforts to float an aircraft company in this province, is stated by the jail authorities to have refused all food for twenty-five days, and he persists in his conduct in spite of every effort to tempt him.

MAN AND BOY KILLED IN MOTOR CAR ACCIDENT

Tragic Occurrence on West Side of Lake—Car Leaps From Powers Creek Bridge, Carrying Two to Their Death

By a terrible accident which took place about 4.40 on Tuesday afternoon, at Powers Creek Bridge, on the Westbank-Penticton road, the life of one man was instantly snuffed out, a boy of some six years was so badly injured that he died within twelve hours and two men received severe bruises and cuts.

The party consisted of Vancouver people and included Mr. H. H. MacLaren, manager of Simmons, Ltd., manufacturers of beds and mattresses, his little son Hugh, Mr. H. J. Godley, traveller for Simmons, Ltd., and Mr. George L. Dobson, traveller for The McLagan Furniture Co. The car, a Chevrolet, belonged to Simmons, Ltd., and was driven by Mr. Godley, who had used it for a considerable time and was thoroughly experienced in the handling of it.

After transacting some business in Kelowna, the party crossed by the ferry, reaching the west side about 4 o'clock. Two cars driven by Mr. C. H. Jackson and Mr. Walter Hamilton respectively were ferried across at the same time. The Vancouver party, anxious to reach Penticton in good time before dark, took the lead, followed by Mr. Jackson, who was accompanied by his wife. Mr. Hamilton, with whom was Mr. T. E. Cooper, stayed at Westbank.

As Mr. Jackson neared the bridge over Powers Creek, he was halted by a man who came towards him, and he recognized Mr. Godley, who briefly told him that his car had gone over the side of the bridge into the ravine and that two of its occupants were badly hurt. He asked Mr. Jackson to give what assistance he could and then hurried off towards Westbank, about a mile away, to summon medical aid.

On reaching the scene of the tragedy, Mr. Jackson saw the wrecked car at the bottom of the ravine, a man lying motionless beside it and Mr. MacLaren bathing the head of his injured son in the creek. The man, who was identified as Mr. Dobson, had sustained terrible injuries to the head, apparently having been dashed head-first against a rock, and life was extinct. Mr. Jackson did what little was possible to help until the arrival of further assistance, when he continued his journey to Penticton.

Mr. Godley found Messrs. Hamilton and Cooper at Westbank and they proceeded at once to the scene of the accident. The driver of the Westbank-Penticton stage fetched Dr. Buchanan, of Peachland, in quick time, and everything possible was done to relieve the surviving victims of the disaster. Little Hugh MacLaren was seen to be in a very serious condition, having sustained three severe wounds on the head, and he was rushed to the Kelowna Hospital, together with his father who was severely bruised and cut, as also was Mr. Godley. The body of Mr. Dobson was removed to Kelowna by Prov. Constable Graham, who was advised of the accident shortly after its occurrence and at once hurried to Westbank.

Poor little Hugh's injuries proved to be beyond surgical skill, and he passed away in the Hospital at 4.30 on Wednesday morning, without regaining consciousness. His mother, who had been summoned from Vancouver by wire immediately after the accident, caught the Kettle Valley train and came up by the Westside stage, but of course was unable to reach her boy before the end came. Coroner Weddell impelled a jury consisting of Messrs. F. M. Buckland, foreman, G. A. Meikle, M. A. Alsgard, Jerman Hunt, F. W. Simmons and F. R. E. De Hart, on Wednesday morning, and they viewed the body of Mr. Dobson at the morgue of the Kelowna Furniture Co. and that of Hugh MacLaren at the Hospital. The inquest was resumed in the evening, with Messrs. MacLaren, Godley, Cooper, Jackson and Dr. Bryce in attendance as witnesses.

From the evidence it became apparent that the accident occurred through failure of the steering gear, due to breakage of a rod in which there were two or three old flaws. Mr. Godley testified that the speed of the car was between twelve and fifteen miles an hour, and in this he was supported by Mr. MacLaren, so

EAST KELOWNA

We are now busy picking our Wealthies. We notice the fruit spurs come off very easily this year. The fruit on the trees is showing up well and we are now in a position to estimate better what crops will be. The most of the orchards appear to be bearing an average crop. Three orchards have little or no fruit and there are at least five or six which are bearing bumper crops. Among those who will do well this year are Messrs. J. E. Reekie, McTavish and Fitzgerald, Young, and A. E. Miller. One of the prettiest sights we have seen is Mr. Hugh Rose's block of Hyslop crabs. The blood-red colour of the fruit against the light green of the cover crop and the dark green of the leaves of the trees makes a beautiful sight. If our friends in town wish to see our orchards at their best we would recommend them to drive out next Sunday or preferably Sunday week. After that the McIntosh will be picked and the beauty of the orchards will be over till next blooming time.

Mr. Ritchie, who is superintending work on our school, is going ahead at a great rate, but does not anticipate being ready in time. The Trustees have been corresponding with the Department of Education with a view to finding out why work was started so late. In this connection we learn that a penalty clause in a building contract in this Province cannot be enforced unless a "quid pro quo" is given, i.e. you cannot enforce a penalty of $20.00 for every day late unless you offer a bonus of $20.00 for every day early.

There is certainly no lack of educational facilities on the Benchies now. For those who prefer the private school system Miss Batchelor is starting a school for girls and boys at the beginning of September in the house on the old Fox place, which is being put into shape by Mr. Wright. We were a little optimistic in our reference to irrigation water. The reservoir is at last starting to fall rapidly and now stands at 8.5 feet, on the other hand the S.K.L. system will not require any more water.

Miss Amy Rowley and Miss Winnie Roberts have returned from Vancouver Island where they saw Miss Nellie Rowley, who is a nurse in Cheaminus Hospital. In Vancouver they stopped with Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Anderson and saw "Patsy" make her first appearance on the Vancouver stage.

The Misses Nott are back from a holiday in Vancouver. Mr. Shankland is contemplating purchasing Mr. Gillespie's 16 acres on the Peace flat, having secured an option with that purpose.

Petty thieving seems on the increase. The other day a gentleman found a Chink in his chicken house. Chickens seem to offer as big a temptation to Chinamen as to Southern darkies. The celestial was taught the error of his ways with the flat of a two by four wielded by a vigorous arm.

CLUB HOUSE AT GOLF COURSE IS FINISHED

New Pavilion Will Be Opened Shortly—Club Now Numbers Nearly One Hundred Members

The new pavilion on the links of the Kelowna Golf Club has been completed and will be opened at an early date. The membership has now reached three or short of a hundred, and the premises will be found a great comfort and convenience by the large number of players.

Some interesting contests will take place within the next few weeks. Kelowna is sending a strong team to Kamloops on Labour Day to play an inter-club match, and on the same day a team from Vernon will come here to play a friendly game. Kamloops has donated a handsome silver cup, to be called the Yale Cup, for the ladies' championship of the Interior. The tournament in connection with it will take place at Kamloops some time this fall, and entries must be sent to Kamloops by Sept. 30th.

Locally, the Stirling Trophy for ladies and the Rees Cup for men are up for competition and the schedule of games will soon commence. The course is in excellent condition and will be available until the snow flies.

GLENMORE

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. James have moved into the cottage on the Harcourt Ranch.

Mrs. Ryall, wife of the Rev. Septimus Ryall of Nanaimo, and daughter, left for Penticton on Monday, after spending a week with her brother-in-law at "Ryallhurst." This was a first visit to the Okanagan, and they were delighted with Glenmore and Woods Lake district.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ryall and son, of New Westminster, arrived in Kelowna on Monday for a short visit at "Ryallhurst."

Messrs. Orville Bond and Austin Nunan, of Paris, Ontario, arrived last week to assist Mr. Thos. Ryall with his apple crop.

Miss Helen Connor left for Vancouver on Saturday morning's boat, to resume her hospital duties.

Mrs. A. R. Morgan and son Robert, of Kinnordale, Alberta, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Watson.

Ranchers are now in the hands of pickers and packers. They are reminded that the ranchers have worked hard all the year to produce a crop that will bring good returns. These returns can be lessened considerably by careless picking in the orchard, and careless grading in the packing house. If pickers are well paid, so that they can make a good day's wage, there is absolutely no reason for a large quantity of bruised fruit moving off an orchard through hasty picking, or a quantity of next year's fruit lying under the trees in the form of broken fruit spurs, to say nothing of weakened limbs from climbing.

We are advertising the wonderful fruit produced in the Okanagan in all Canadian cities and elsewhere. Do not let us forget the visitor in our midst, who wonders why such poor stuff is often shown in the stores. Don't blame the storekeeper. Why bring him stuff that should be left on the ground or fed to the hogs?

Considerable interest has been aroused in Glenmore by the report from the Woods Lake correspondent that "slashing of prices has already begun on the prairies." Here follow some expressions of opinion from Glenmore growers.

"It has been ascertained that the market situation on the prairies has been correctly reported."

"In view of the exceedingly favourable market conditions this year for our fruit, this slashing of prices is unintelligible and calls for an explanation from the responsible party or parties."

"A little calculation will show that even a slight cut in prices on the immense volume of fruit that the Okanagan growers will market this season will mean a loss of nearly half a million dollars, and, as so much fruit will be disposed of on a consignment basis, the loss may greatly exceed this amount."

"The outlook is very dark," according to another grower.

"An indignation meeting should be held and ways and means considered to safeguard our industry for the future."

BRUMFIELD INDICTED FOR MURDER IN FIRST DEGREE

ROSEBURG, Ore., Sept. 1.—An indictment charging Dr. K. M. Brumfield with murder in the first degree in connection with the slaying of Dennis Russell was returned by the grand jury here today. Brumfield was arrested a few weeks ago while working on a farm near Calgary.

POLITICAL SITUATION BETTER IN GERMANY

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—The political situation in Germany is considered as improving, owing to the reassuring fact that Foreign Minister Rosen will start today on a three weeks vacation.

MINE EXPLOSION IN ILLINOIS KILLS SEVEN

HARRISBURG, Ills., Sept. 1.—Eleven miners were killed and seven injured in an explosion in the Harco Company's mine near here. More than 400 others at work in the mine when the explosion occurred have been accounted for.

THE PRAIRIE FRUIT MARKETS BULLETIN

Current Prices and Market Conditions

(From the Weekly Bulletin issued by J. A. Grant, Fruit Markets Commissioner, Calgary.)

August 27th, 1921.

The Week in Calgary

The market here is still in a dull condition. Housewives are being continually reminded that the fruit preserving season is two weeks in advance of last year.

There has been an over supply of Washington Bartlett pears on the market this week, and as many of them were commencing to turn ripe, prices slipped down as low as $2.50 per case.

Some first class Pink Meat melons from Peachland arrived on the market this week. These are becoming very popular with the Calgary buyers.

The first shipment of Italian Prunes arrived during the week from Washington, they were a little on the green side.

Shipments of blackberries are becoming lighter; there is no big demand for them.

There seems to be no bottom to the ripe tomato market. No. 1 quality firm ripe tomatoes are being wholesaled as low as 75c. per four basket crate, and retailed at from 90c to $1.00. Express charge per crate to Calgary from B.C. is 55c as against 12c in carload lots by freight.

Several carlots of Alberta grown potatoes from Edmonton arrived during the week. Calgary local grown stock is also being hauled in.

A carload of Manitoba cucumbers packed in 100 lb. bags arrived during the week from Winnipeg; the owner is finding it very difficult to sell them, as cucumbers in sacks are not wanted on this market.

Local grown hothouse tomatoes, in 16 lb. four-basket crates are being sold as low as $2.00 per crate, this being the lowest price that has prevailed here for hothouse stock.

Shipments of green corn are now arriving from B.C. and Alberta points in better condition, growers are removing the small ears and those not properly filled. It is the poor ungraded stock arriving on the market that brings down the price.

Eggs, selected, per case $13.00 wholesale; No. 1, $11.50, wholesale. No change in butter, fowl or hay prices.

Edmonton
EDMONTON, Aug. 25.—It is almost impossible to give definite prices on many lines at present time, with so much stuff coming in apparently on consignment; prices are very indefinite.

The first Washington Elberta peaches and Italian prunes have come on the market since our last report and both have arrived in good shape. Eleven cars of potatoes were shipped to Eastern points last week at 60c net to grower.

Regina
REGINA, Aug. 24.—Country trade good. City trade very light owing to season being three weeks earlier and a large percentage of city people camping. Season will be over before city consumers realize. Ontario co-operative companies are consigning mixed cars to this market and are being sold at ridiculous prices which will get the grower nothing. Market in a precarious condition owing to goods not being bought readily. Consumer thinks time is not ripe buying, in spite of the fact that goods are being offered at a low figure. Goods are backing up on brokers, and it is feared a big slump will be the result.

Medicine Hat
MEDICINE HAT, Aug. 25.—Business this week has been very slow; peaches and plums are moving very slowly.

Saskatoon
SASKATOON, Aug. 24.—Market heavily stocked with all lines. Movement slow at country points; farmers busy.

Winnipeg
WINNIPEG, Aug. 24.—This market is pretty well loaded with fruit of all kinds, particularly early apples and Ontario mixed fruit, also B.C. crab apples, and the public does not seem to absorb the quantities of fruit which they have done in former years; also plums are arriving in very poor condition both from Ontario and B.C., and a great deal of this fruit has to be handled on a consignment basis as the jobber refuses to buy. B.C. should not ship their Wealthy and McIntosh, as they usually do with the first cars, with poor or scant colour, as there will be lots of apples without them and the well coloured stock will sell readily where the green stock will stick.

B.C. are shipping quantities of Transcendents which are marked No. 1 and are running below the size requirements, they are also shipping some very fine and well graded Transcendents.

The following cars received since last report:
Imported—11 cars pears, 3 cars mixed fruit, 2 cars apples, 2 cars peaches, 2 cars onions. Ontario—8 cars mixed fruits, 1 car musk melons. B.C.—1 car plums, 8 cars mixed fruits, 8 cars apples, 10 cars crab apples, 1,114 crates blackberries.

Vancouver
VANCOUVER, Aug. 24.—Small fruits: With the exception of blackberries and a few stragglers in strawberries, the season is finished. Both these berries are coming in in very poor condition owing to the wet weather and, as regards strawberries, the lateness of arrival. The prices obtained, however, are very good owing to scarcity.

Apples and Pears: Both these fruits are moving out in a satisfactory manner, the price level being fairly constant on graded stock. Loose packs and other inferior grades are in good supply, as is usual for this time of the year.

Tomatoes: Heavy arrivals of field tomatoes have created a low priced market. Hothouse stock has also come down from the same cause.

Potatoes: The market has become decidedly firmer during the past week, growers obtaining as high as $21.00 Vancouver. Tentative carlot shipments have been made to Eastern Canadian and United States points. The approaching season is the subject of much speculative thought in the trade. The U.S. Emergency Tariff duty and the light crop reports from the U.S. and Eastern Canada have a heavy bearing on the subject, but until later reports are to hand, which will give more definite idea of the potato yield, all forecasting must be purely speculative. Conditions are such, however, as to practically guarantee the B.C. growers their own local market. The health of this, however, can only be maintained by finding an adequate outlet for the surplus stock which is usually upwards of 300 carlots, but which will probably be higher than usual this year owing to the idle camps which when active are heavy consumers.

The grower can assist marketing very greatly by maintaining a high grade. It is to be remembered that many of the available markets are supplied from districts where high grade requirements are upheld, and it is not desirable that the local product should suffer by comparison on these markets. In the case of U.S. markets, a duty of 25c per bushel must be paid, no consideration being given to quality. This matter is worthy of the attention of growers both from the point of view of immediate sales and for future business. B.C. is an exporter of potatoes and everything possible should be done not only to hold what markets we have, but to develop new ones. In this, quality is an important factor.

The Correctness of Prices Quoted
Some correspondence has reached this office questioning the correctness of our market quotations. We cannot quote prices to cover the various degrees of grades of produce supplied to markets. The aim of our correspondents is to publish average prices at which B.C. produce is sold at in the different cities. Shippers must know that fruit sells on its merits and there is a great spread in the value of a high grade No. 1 and a low grade

No. 1. We do not expect to be able to publish prices to cover all cases, nor do we publish the job lots which are all too numerous, owing to so much consignment. Some jobbers, after selling all their trade needs daily, will job the overplus to peddlers and market stalls at prices that retail merchants dare not meet even with what is consigned to them.

The standard and pack is improving in the east districts faster than it is in isolated districts, even if these isolated districts improve rapidly.

When uniform pack and standards are reached and we control the selling agencies, we will be able to cover the ground in a more satisfactory way. Unless merit is in the fruit, the price will not be the top one.

What's a Guarantee?

Our idea of a guarantee is that the manufacturer who gives one—which hasn't any tags and loopholes—believes in his product.

So much so that he stands ready to make good any loss suffered by the purchaser through defective material or workmanship.

It's mainly because of the guarantee that goes with them that we are selling and recommending Ames Holden "Auto-Shoes."

Of course, we know they give the cheapest mileage too—that they are dependable tires for any make of car, anywhere. But it's the guarantee that we talk about most. It's the straight and clean-cut, without time or mileage limits. It shifts our responsibility on to the manufacturer and he lives up to every letter of it. Come in and let us tell you about the guarantee that goes with

THE FIRST VISITOR

The first visitor is a person of some importance, in a new menage, and I looked forward to Betsy's arrival with much joy and some agitation. I had been studying books on efficiency in the household and all that sort of thing and was just getting things "organized." But my scheme of organization hadn't allowed for visitors, at least the scheme the books outlined hadn't, and to have visitors was going to be one of the big joys in a home of one's own. Until experience should come to show me some better way I decided upon getting up an hour earlier in the morning as my best solution for the problem of how most successfully to be hostess and housewife in one. I could simply fly, then, with not a soul awake to interrupt or interfere, and get a whole heap of work off my mind so that I would be free to visit to my heart's content later in the day.

The first morning I sneaked downstairs like a thief in the early morning darkness, holding my breath when a step creaked, and feeling cautiously for the electric switches. I had just nicely got into my accelerated morning routine, and was flourishing mop and duster with zest, thinking gleefully of the bright and shining house that would greet my guest at eight o'clock, when a slight sound interrupted my flow of thoughts. There stood Betsy. My face fell. I'm sure it did. I only hope she didn't notice it. But I'm sure she didn't, for she laughed aloud in delight, crying, "Aha, I've caught you at it—trying to get all the work done before I came down. Well, it can't be done, my dear. I heard you and I'm going to help. Now what can I do?"

"I don't know," I stammered, "You see I'm so used to doing all this myself that I scarcely know how to delegate any of it. Besides, I have the time. You'd better just sit down and talk to me."

So she sat down and when I moved into another room she followed me. And we talked. And when I paid attention to the talk I lost track of my work and when I paid attention to my work I lost track of the talk and made foolish answers. Sometimes she tried to take something out of my hands to do, but always there was some reason that I knew just what had to be done and she didn't, and when it was time to get breakfast I hadn't accomplished half what I had mapped out. Indeed, my housework dragged out until it took almost the whole day.

The next morning I determined she shouldn't hear me, but she got up, anyway, and then she had the habit and it happened every day. "Oh, dear," I moaned, when I told the nicest neighbour all about it afterward. "If only people wouldn't be so horribly unselfish. Or if they'd only believe you when you swear it's your honest selfish wish that they don't try to help you early in the morning, not a mere effort to be agreeable, I'm sure. Betty thinks I'm driven to death by the work of this house when really it was just trying to mix work and visiting instead of finishing one, then devoting oneself to the other."

"It reminds me of my first visitor," the nicest neighbour laughed. "Tom had to go down town very early in the morning and he hated to be delayed. Marie was a great sleepy-head in the mornings, always, so I hit upon the plan of giving her breakfast in bed. It would be a bit of a luxury for her, keep her out of the road until I got my work well under way, save Tom from any delays, give me a chance to serve her breakfast and wash up after it at the hour most convenient to me and altogether be a capital plan. But do you think I could make her do it? Not one morning. And she was always late too, and Tom's breakfast was delayed, and my dish washing, too, and how I did sigh, just as you do, for a visitor who will believe what her hostess says and do what she asks her to do."

The mineral production of British Columbia for 1920 totalled $35,543,084. Ores amounting to 2,178,187 tons were mined, giving employment to 3,351 men. The principal values and quantities of metals produced were: Placer gold, $221,600; lode gold, $2,481,392; silver, 3,377,849 ounces, worth $3,235,980; copper, 44,887,676 pounds, valued at $7,832,899; lead, 39,331,281 pounds, valued at $2,816,115; zinc, 47,208,268 pounds, valued at $3,077,979.

IS WORLD'S BIGGEST CHUNK OF LAUGHTER

"Alf's Button" Has Caused The Whole World To Quake With Merriment

After several weeks' negotiations, Mr. R. E. Berry is now able to present, through the Okanagan circuit, the world's greatest film comedy—"Alf's Button."

It is doubtful if there is anybody in the Okanagan district—or anywhere else, for that matter—who has not heard of this sensational seven-reel British film comedy which has convulsed the whole world.

"Alf's Button" played for six weeks in Vancouver, and finished as strong as when it started. It played for three continuous weeks at the big Walker Theatre in Winnipeg, and is going back there for another run. It is playing return engagements in all the principal cities of the Dominion.

This remarkable rib-tickler will only make the one appearance over the Okanagan circuit, so those who want to see this super-comedy feature had better take advantage of the present opportunity.

Here are the dates: Kamloops, Friday and Saturday, September 2 and 3; Vernon, Wednesday and Thursday, September 7 and 8; Penticton, Monday and Tuesday, September 12 and 13; Kelowna, Wednesday and Thursday, September 14 and 15.

The top price charged in Vancouver at the Orpheum for this picture was $1.25. It has played no first-run theatres at less than one dollar top, as there is a clause in the contracts with producers and bookers preventing a lower admission price for first-run showings. It is booked like a road-show, and is handled by the Trans-Canada Theatres, Ltd. in conjunction with the distributors—the Horsfall Productions, Ltd., of Montreal.

Columns could be written of the phenomenal success of this play, but people of this district need no further enlightenment.

FATTY ARBUCKLE IN "BREWSTER'S MILLIONS"

Inimitable Fat Man Strengthens Film Production of Famous Book

(A Review by Louis Reeves Harrison)

Whatever caused "Brewster's Millions" to win in fiction and stage presentation is preserved in the screen version with embellishments and the inimitable "Fatty" added. What furnishes the amusement is probably contrast, that of a man finding it difficult to spend a vast fortune when most of us are at our wits' ends to save a few dollars.

Roscoe Arbuckle, erstwhile "Fatty," now a full-fledged comedian, is bound to please by sheer force of personality. His expressive face is far more effective than his physical agility, and he need not fear to give larger development to other characteristics in his plays if only for the sake of variety. Scenarist and director have done well in their amplification of the original story, and the whole production moves along in lines of good craftsmanship. "Brewster's Millions" is bound to prove a highly amusing entertainment.

"Brewster's Millions" will be shown at the Empress Theatre on Friday and Saturday, Sept 2 and 3.

PREPARING BEES FOR WINTER

(Experimental Farms Note.)

We take good care to provide food and protection for ourselves and our livestock in winter but too often the bees, which need them just as much for their survival and comfort, are neglected. Thousands of colonies die every winter and many more are badly weakened for want of timely care in the fall. Every colony saved will produce, at a low estimate, ten dollars' worth of honey the next year, if well managed.

Three things need special attention in preparing bees for winter—protection, strength and stores.

Protection

The beekeeper should decide early whether he will winter his bees outside or in a cellar. Roughly speaking in British Columbia, Southern Ontario and the Annapolis Valley, N. S., outside wintering is advisable. For the rest of Canada a well insulated cellar, deep in well drained ground. Much, however, depends on whether one has a god cellar or a yard well sheltered from wind for outside wintering. Bees have been wintered outside successfully as far north as Hailcybur, Ont., and at Lethbridge, Alta. The cellar should be fairly dry, with a steady temperature not exceeding 50° nor less than 40°.

For outside wintering place the hive in a case with a packing between. For packing use planer shavings or well dried leaves, moss, etc. Cases may be made to take one, two, or four hives each. There should be 2 1/2 to 4 inches of packing at the sides and beneath and a cushion on top 6 to 8 inches thick. Cases in which the floor section is separate and has sides extending above the entrance holes save labour in packing. In the four-colony case the side sections may be hooked together. Have the cases made in time to pack the hives at the middle of September. On the Pacific Coast where the winters are mild and damp, the side and bottom packing should be omitted and the roof should be well ventilated.

Strength and Young Queens

Unite all weak colonies in September so that each hive will contain enough bees to cover at least the equivalent of eight Langstroth frames; enough bees to crowd on ten frames is better. See that each colony has a young fertile queen, if possible not later than the end of July, so that many young bees will be raised in August.

Stores

A sufficient supply of wholesome stores is most important. Feed sugar syrup (two parts refined sugar to one of water) during September (first week in October in Southern Ontario) to bring the weight of stores of each colony up to 40 pounds. A ten-frame Langstroth hive, without the cover, should weigh between 70 and 80 pounds. In places where the honey gathered is not perfectly wholesome for winter, at least ten pounds of the stores should consist of sugar syrup. Where it is likely the honey is decidedly unwholesome or will granulate hard in the combs in winter, at least half of the stores should be sugar syrup. If necessary, remove outside combs of honey and place empty combs in the middle of the hive. The following stores have been found unwholesome: honey gathered in certain marshy places in the Maritime Provinces, from aster near Lake Erie, in Manitoba when there is a short crop in a dry summer, dandelion honey and honey containing honey dew or fruit juice. The best honey is that from alfalfa and white clover. Honey from alfalfa and from sweet clover is inclined to granulate too hard in cold regions. Ordinary ten-pound honey tins with small holes punched in the lid will do for feeding. Feed rapidly. Preferably pack the hives in cases before feeding.

Orchard Run

Under a ruling made by the Minister of Customs on August 19th, newspaper publishers who also do job printing may be classed as retailers when selling exclusively by retail goods made to the order of each individual customer. The Courier has been advised accordingly by Mr. A.
Weddell, Sub-Collector of Customs and Excise, that sales tax need no longer be collected on orders for printing and rubber stamps. Formerly, publishers who were also printers were classed as manufacturers selling at wholesale, which was palpably wrong, as all sales were direct to consumers, but our customers had to suffer this injustice for over a year, while we had to pay a licence fee of $5.00 a year for the high privilege of acting as tax collector on behalf of the government. The officials at Ottawa responsible for saddling such petty imposts as these licence fees upon business firms have a curious lack of fairness and proportion, as the shoe should be on the other foot, and if the government wants to have taxes collected for them, they should pay a commission on the amount collected instead of making a charge for acting in the undesired capacity of tax gatherer.

Most of the dailies have the picture habit. Every time they mention a public man they have to publish a frightful libel upon his looks in the form of a so-called portrait, which may pretend to represent him at any period within the preceding forty years or may be that of some forgotten thug or bandit dug up out of the "morgue" for lack of anything authentic. Some of the portraits of Lord and Lady Byng published during the past two or three weeks were positively a crime, and the papers responsible should be subject to prosecution for lese majeste.

Sam Hughes disappears the last champion of the Ross Rifle, a weapon which has cost Canada dearly in human life besides money. Sir Sam espoused its cause with all the strength of his fiery nature and in its defence turned upon his own party friends in parliament, one of the most famous of his battles being with Dr. Worthington, a Conservative who, like Sir Sam, was keenly interested in the welfare of the militia prior to the war, anxious that it should be equipped with an arm of precision common to all the forces of the Empire.

As a target weapon the Ross match rifle was without a peer, as any marksman can tell who has experienced its easy pull-off and its wonderful accuracy with an unworn barrel, but its action was not suited to the rough work of a campaign where the same care as on the rifle range cannot be given, and in the ordinary issue of "ruck" rifles the workmanship and fitting was of a very poor class, not to be compared to the standard of the Lee-Enfield or Lee-Metford. The Mark II Ross issued to the militia in pre-war days was a joke. Weird "prong" sights, quite unsuited to knockabout work in rough country, were experimented with but the sighting, if tested at all at the factory, was so badly done that the majority of the rifles were hopelessly inaccurate at the standard distances at which class-firing was carried on, and each man who knew enough to do so disregarded the ranges marked on the sight and determined the proper elevation for himself. Like a British rifle of a former generation, the Mark II was contemptuously dubbed "gaspipe" by those who, willy-nilly, had to handle it. The Mark III issued to the Canadian Expeditionary Force was a far stronger and more substantial weapon, but was heavy and clumsy to handle. Splendid shooting was done with it by the troops on ranges in Canada, but in the field it fell down lamentably, the threaded head of the bolt proving a trap for sand and grit and jamming under the stress of rapid fire. The troops found it so unreliable that they threw away their rifles without authority and picked up the short Lee-Enfield wherever they could until such time as it was decided to discard the Ross and issue the British rifle to the Canadians.

With the issue of the short Lee-Enfield to the reorganized Canadian militia, Canada's costly experiment in a straight-pull rifle of her own pattern and manufacture has come to an end, and hereafter the service rifle will conform to that of all the Imperial forces.

TRUTH UNADORNED

Only a short time ago the editor of a paper in Indiana grew tired of being called a liar, and announced that he would tell the truth in future, and the next issue of the paper contained the following item:

Married—Miss Sylvia Robs and James Collins last Saturday night at the Baptist church by Rev. Gordon.
The bride is a very ordinary girl who doesn't know any more about cooking than a jack rabbit and never helped her mother in her life. She is not a beauty by any means, and has a gait like a duck. The groom is an up-to-date loafer. He has been living off the old folks at home all his life, and is not worth shucks. Theirs will be a mighty hard life.—Exchange.

BOY SCOUTS' COLUMN

Troop First Self Last!
Edited by "Cougar."

August 30, 1921.

Great news for the Troop this week!
Our problem for many years has been to find suitable quarters for Troop meetings and other activities. We have had many different meeting-places but none have been really satisfactory. Now we are in sight of the end of this problem. The Boy Scouts' Association has come nobly to our aid. Our good friends Messrs. Mantle, Ball and Lloyd-Jones waited upon the Council to explain the need of headquarters for the Scouts and Cubs and to request the Aldermen for a lot.
After some discussion a twenty-year lease of a lot was given us, and it now but remains to erect some building. The Scouts' Association is looking after this for us and we can leave the matter in their hands. This building, it is hoped, will be big enough for basket-ball and physical exercises.

The Scouts will not be the only beneficiaries, for the Cubs and Girl Guides, should they be organized, will all have access to the building.

The settlement of this question of quarters has long been a troublesome one, especially to our persevering Scoutmaster who has kept the Troop intact through all our difficulties. In the meantime, of course, we will just have to carry on in our present quarters. It is proposed to divide the Troop in half, one party to meet on one night and the other on another.

We have heard of no new Rescuer's or Swimmer's Badges being won and it will soon be too cold.

By the time this Column is printed our Scoutmaster will no longer be a bachelor. We all send him our very heartiest good wishes for every good thing in the future.

CIVIL WAR RAGES
IN WEST VIRGINIA

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Sept. 1.—
A bloody battle like no other in American history is in progress along the mountain ridge between the Little Coal and Guyandotte rivers near here. Six thousand miners are at grips with an equal force of deputy sheriffs, state police and citizens. The ridge is ablaze with rifle fire for miles, and the casualties are believed to have been heavy.

Mrs. Armstrong, who has been visit-
minster this morning.

Mrs. A. G. Moxham went to Stettler, Alberta, this morning.

General R. A. Caruthers, late of the Indian Army, and Mrs. Carruthers, who had spent a week visiting their brothers, Mr. E. M. Carruthers, of the Land and Agricultural Company of Canada, and Mr. A. G. H.
Carruthers, left on Wednesday for Boston en route to England.

AN OPEN LETTER TO BOYS

Young Sir:—

You're at the age when Speed is King. You want to hurry, to get somewhere; to play fast and clean.

And you want to dress in the briskest of the new styles.
You want your clothes to be the freshest and up-to-date-est that are to be found in town.

Not "dandy" clothes that won't stand the racket of the race or the scrimmage, but good, substantial clothes that will wear as well as they look—and, by wearing long, make it easier on Mother's purse.

We know what you want and need and assure you that you can't beat our showing of

WILSON LANDING

Our wharf presented quite a busy appearance on Monday last, stacked with fruit boxes, full and empty, and fourteen people, an automobile, an express wagon, a democrat and a saddle pony being in attendance on the coming of s.s. "Sicamous."

Pickers have been scarce here but the wasps have certainly "done their bit" coming in by the million apparently. They have accounted for some very fine fruit in different orchards along the lake side. The tent-caterpillar is unusually troublesome, dominating himself where he finds an especially finely coloured branch of fruit.

Mr. Gordon Robson, of Kedlestone, is here paying his first visit to the lake district.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Dalziel were visitors to Vernon on Monday last.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Miss L. D. Turner left for Calgary on Monday.

Mrs. E. G. Atherton was a passenger to Calgary on Saturday.

The Misses Renfrew, of Okanagan Mission, drove by car to Vernon on Saturday, en route to Vancouver.

When doing up fruit, will you remember the Hospital with a few jars? The gift will be highly appreciated.

Mrs. W. O'Neill and son Francis returned last week from a visit to Vancouver.

Miss Marian Hawes returned on Saturday afternoon from Vernon, where she had been spending a week's vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Grant, who had been visiting the parents of the latter, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Davidson, left on Friday morning for Regina, Sask.

Miss Meikle, of Winnipeg, returned home on Monday, after spending the summer here with her brother, Mr. Geo. A. Meikle.

Mr. R. Helme, Superintendent of the Dominion Express Co., Vancouver, and Mrs. Helme, were visitors to town on Tuesday.

Dr. Knox returned on Monday from attendance at the meetings of the B.C. Section of the American College of Surgeons, held last week in Vancouver.

Mr. T. M. Anderson, District Field Inspector, will spend the next month in the northern part of the Province judging at fall fairs at various points along the line of the G.T.P. east of Prince Rupert. He left for the north yesterday.

A chimney fire at the residence of Mr. Harry Anderson, near the Hospital, gave the Fire Brigade a run at 7:40 p.m. on Friday evening. The alarm was turned in by a citizen who saw the glare some distance away and thought the blaze demanded the attention of the Brigade, but their services were not required.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Clement arrived from Penticton on Friday and spent the week-end visiting relatives here returning south on Monday. Mr. Clement has accepted an appointment on the teaching staff of Columbian College, New Westminster, and he left Penticton on Tuesday to take up his new duties.

Summer has gone and fall weather is in evidence. The change from weeks of torrid heat is grateful, but tomato growers hope that heavy autumn rains will hold off for a few weeks so that the crop may be harvested in good shape. A repetition of last year's extraordinarily wet weather in September and October would be disastrous.

Two crates of pheasants arrived on Saturday from the Provincial Game Farm at the Coast, and were distributed throughout the district. It is somewhat surprising to local sportsmen that the birds should be sent at this time of year, only a few weeks before the open season, as the spring would seem to be a more appropriate time, but the addition to the pheasant population is appreciated, just the same.

MARRIAGE

Ramsay-Dillon

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Dillon, Bernard Avenue, on Tuesday, at 11 a.m., when their daughter Jennie was united in marriage to Mr. Edmond Eldon Ramsay, of Vancouver. The ceremony, which was performed by Rev. E. D. Braden, was solemnized on the lawn under a picturesque arch of flowers.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a navy blue suit with hat to match and carried a bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Violet Dillon, sister of the bride, wore a dress of sand silk with hat to match and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. Mr. Harry Dillon, brother of the bride, ably discharged the duties of best man. Only immediate relatives were in attendance.

After a dainty repast, the happy couple left by car for Penticton on their way to Vancouver, where they will reside.

A drunk, who created a disturbance by forcing his way into a dance on Saturday night which he had no right to attend, paid a fine of $50 and $2.50 costs in the Police Court on Monday. The punishment already meted out to others does not seem to have taught some people how to keep within the bounds of decorum.

Mrs. G. A. Meikle and Maurice returned on Saturday from a visit to Victoria and other Coast points.

Chief of Police Thomas returned on Tuesday from a vacation trip to Salmon Arm and the Coast.

Miss Mae Hill, who had been visiting friends here, returned to Calgary yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Burke, who had been visiting Mrs. Burke's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan McMillan, have left for their home in Spokane.

Miss Dorothy Evans, who had been visiting friends in the city, left on Saturday afternoon for her home in Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowie and two children, of Edmonton, paid a short visit to friends in the city the latter part of last week.

Mr. C. Foster arrived from Albert Canyon on Friday to take the place of Mr. J. M. Davidson, C.P.R. agent, during the illness of the latter. Mr. Davidson is now convalescent.

With a weakened team short of six or seven of the players who won the Okanagan League championship this year, Kelowna met with defeat at lacrosse in Vernon last Thursday by a pretty steep margin, the score being 11-4.

Mr. Frank Morris, of Rossland, who has been in business there for many years, has purchased the Welsh property of one acre on Ethel Street and has also bought a lot on Bernard Avenue. He will move the old house off the Ethel Street site and transfer it to Bernard Avenue, and will build a new bungalow in its place, which he will occupy when he and his wife arrive to settle here permanently next spring.

Kelowna failed to live up to its reputation for football prowess when Vernon took the measure of the local team in the semi-final for the Robertson Cup, at the City Park recreation ground on Thursday afternoon, by four goals to two. The play was indifferent on both sides, with Kelowna worse than Vernon, and Vernon's victory about represented the respective merits of the teams. The final for the cup will now be played between Vernon and Kamloops.

Mr. H. Ryall, of New Westminster, has been visiting the chief points served by the system of the Okanagan Telephone Company, of which he is a director, and while in Kelowna this week was the guest of his brother, Mr. T. M. Ryall, of Glenmore, leaving for the south on Tuesday. In conversation with a Courier representative, he stated that the Company will probably spend about $10,000 in this locality this fall in carrying out their policy of steadily improving their system. He regretted that little assistance was given by the general public towards financing the necessary capital expenditures. While outside enterprises, such as oil and rubber tire companies, could raise large sums in the Okanagan by the sale of stock, all his company had secured was $10,000, although the proceeds of the sale of shares would be spent in the Valley, and this paltry measure of support—especially when the investment was thoroughly sound—was very disappointing.

G.W.V.A. NOTES

The passing of General Sir Sam Hughes will cause mingled feelings to those of the 1st Division who saw so much of him at Valcartier. There is no doubt his life was shortened by his strenuous work during the first two years of the war. He had great driving power and energy but wore himself out. He was the first Minister of Militia that Canada had that showed any vision, and the work he did for the Militia during the three years preceding the war was largely responsible for the quickness with which the 1st Canadian Division was mobilized and fit for the front. His obstinacy over the Ross rifle and the millions wasted over this weapon and useless equipment were typical of the man. He was intensely Canadian and wanted Canadian equipment to be used overseas. He was a bad enemy and loyal to his friends.

There will be a short meeting on Saturday next immediately preceding the smoker at 8:15 p.m., but it should be over in less than half an hour.

GERMANS DEMONSTRATE LOYALTY TO REPUBLIC

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—A demonstration of loyalty to the republic, for which preparations have been going on for several days, drew a crowd estimated at 200,000 persons this afternoon to the park in front of the old royal palace, which is now a museum, and the steps of the cathedral and adjacent buildings were thronged. Republican and red flags were flown everywhere.

HOW TO PREPARE EXHIBITS FOR SHOWS

Valuable Points to Stock Breeders and Growers of Produce

Not all the success achieved at fall fairs is due to careful breeding or cultivation of the stock or produce exhibited; much is due to proper preparation of the exhibits so as to display their quality, and exhibitors often lose valuable points through neglect in this respect. In an article in the "Covitchian Leader," Mr. W. M. Fleming gives some timely hints on preparation of farm and garden exhibits. He does not cover fruit, but we reprint such of his advice as will be found of service by those intending to show livestock or produce at the Kelowna Fall Fair.

Live Stock

A good washing the day before the fair is often advisable. It is absolutely necessary if the animals are at all dirty. All the animals at the large fairs are washed before showing. Tar soap is used and the washing is continued until the lather comes out white. If done early enough, the natural oil will come out on the hair again before the animals enter the ring. After washing, sluice the skin with plenty of clean water and smooth the hair down, after drying as much as possible.

The whole of the tail above the switch in dairy cattle should be clipped closely, with the clippers. This will usually give the hind-quarters a more level appearance, as the tail head is generally higher than the back. The switch is well washed and rinsed in alum water to cut the soap. For a show bull, the switch is soaked in a thin mixture of whitening and water and braided while wet, and the braids tied together until before showing, when they are brushed and combed out. After thorough grooming, use a flannel cloth on the hair, not wet, slightly dampened with equal parts of sweet oil, kerosene and tincture of green soap, or use sweet oil alone. This will give the hide a sleek appearance.

The horns on the older animals will give the most trouble, but it pays to polish them up. First use a steel scraper or piece of glass to scrape off all rough horn, then smooth the horn with emery cloth, and when satisfied with the shape and smoothness of the horns, apply tan boot polish and polish up with a flannel strip. This improves the animal's looks generally.

At a short fair the animals are upset at being taken from the home pasture and do not look their best because they are not eating and drinking normally. It is a good thing to keep the animals in a barn some time before the fair and to feed a proportion of timothy hay in the ration, so that the bowels will not be too loose. If some dry feed has been used before the fair, the animals will eat better on show day. A little extra salt will often ensure that the cows will take a good drink before entering the ring. This fills out the barrel and prevents any appearance of gauntness.

Cows in milk should be milked at the usual time on the morning of the show and milked clean. Leaving milk in the udder or in the front quarters to "pad them out" to deceive the judge is not right and, moreover, will not pay. A good judge knows all about it.

Many a prize has been lost owing to the inability of the attendant to make an animal stand squarely on four legs with its head up. Many an animal would stand a lot better if some trouble was taken with it, even in the ring, and the attendant was on to his job. Watch for inequalities in ground levels when the animal is at rest. Do not have the animal standing down-hill.

Both judge and spectators like to see a man proud of his stock and of its appearance and behaviour. A good-looking leather halter counts for more than the average person thinks. Do not think, either, that the exhibition ends with the placing of the awards in the ring. Make the most of your opportunities while the animals are in the stable. Fair visitors are curious to know which animals are the winners. The prize ribbons should be displayed over the stall of the winner and not bunched together on the banner of the owner. A card not less than 12 by 12 should be placed above each animal in the stable. This card should give the name, number and age of each animal, with records in the case of dairy cattle. These cards are silent salesmen that are always on the job, whether or not the owner is there.

Milk and Butter Exhibits

Be sure to show milk and cream in proper milk bottles with caps, such as city dairymen use. Do not have the milk or cream too rich but just

BEE KEEPING NOTES

By J. W. Sheppard, Chief Bee Inspector, Nelson, B.C.

All hives short of sufficient stores to carry the bees through the winter, viz., about thirty pounds, should be fed with syrup sugar as early as possible. While the warm weather lasts the bees are able to store the syrup in the combs and seal it over, but, if the feeding is left until the nights get cold, they are unable to do this. Unsealed food is detrimental to bees in winter. The quantity of stores in the hive can easily be estimated, as each frame when full contains about five pounds net weight. A quicker way is to lift up the back of the hive and a very good idea of the weight of stores within can be obtained by this means.

The syrup should be made of white granulated sugar in the proportion of two parts of sugar to one of water. It is not really necessary to boil it, as the sugar will dissolve if boiling water is poured on it and well stirred until clear. A lever-lid can, with a tight fitting lid, in which about a dozen small holes have been made with the point of a shingle nail, makes a good feeder. The feeder should be refilled each evening until sufficient syrup has been given. A strong colony will empty a five pound feeder in twenty-four hours or less. The syrup should be given warm and the feeder should be covered with several thicknesses of sacking or other warm material to retain the heat as long as possible. Bees can only take cold syrup very slowly.

The season of 1921, which promised so well in the spring, has, owing to the long continued dry weather, been a poor one for honey production throughout the Province. Some colonies have not been able to gather sufficient honey to winter on. Combs containing honey dew of fruit juices should be removed before feeding up for the winter.

JOURNALISTIC AMENITIES

(From the Grand Forks "Gazette")

The cemetery sheet (Grand Fork "Sun") prates of the voice of its braying jackass. Evidently familiarity breeds contempt.

(From the Kaslo Kootenaiian)

If Beauty Beach, the de luxe camping spot in the Kaslo sector, is not overcrowded with tent dwellers next season, certainly the Kootenaiian must be held blameless for any lack in this respect. In a recent issue editor MacLaren solemnly affirms that recently a camping party from that town that hired a chef at going wages, and did no bargain hunting in the matter of cooking and replenishing the larder, was able to finance its entire culinary expense on a levy of 60 cents per day per head of the party—and that ordinarily four squares a day were in order. If this statement of case had come out of Grand Forks, for instance, we would be inclined to retort that it is of record that quite an appetizing soup can be made with a stone and hot water and a little onions, provided you boil it long enough, but we have too high a regard for the people of Kaslo to even insinuate that they must have even occasionally got up too late for breakfast, fed at midday on fish and wind pudding and took a drink and pulled up their belts in soldier fashion for supper, once in a while during their outing at the classically-named summer resort—Creston Review.

If the editor of the Creston Review will accept an invitation to the camp next summer he will meet the healthiest looking bunch to be found anywhere and because they do eat some of those Kootenay fish at times they are likewise brainy. Ye editor might find some of the fish beneficial and the Kootenay air stimulating.

COUNTER CHECK BOOKS

Instead of giving your order for Counter Check Books to a travelling salesman, give a local firm a chance to quote you an equally interesting price.

Counter Check Books constitute a special branch of printing work, requiring a large outlay in costly automatic presses and other expensive machinery in order to produce them with a minimum of hand labour and at the lowest possible cost in large quantities. The country printer, with his limited equipment, cannot compete in this field, and we have therefore accepted an agency for a firm of Counter Check Book manufacturers, who avoid the greater cost of employing a traveller by paying their agents a commission which in no way raises the cost of the books to purchasers.

The standard Counter Check Books are made up in a number of sizes and styles, either with carbon-back original or inserted carbon leaf, on any of which we shall be glad to quote prices. Or, if something else is needed to meet special requirements, we will obtain quotations from the manufacturers, whose prices are very reasonable.

After four months as a two-paper town, Penticton has returned to its first love, the "Herald." Hanley & Brown, publishers of the "Standard," sold their printing plant last week to Mr. L. Pilkington, of Keremeos, who will discontinue publication of the paper and will confine himself to the job printing field. The "Standard" was started in April against the expressed wishes of the Penticton Retail Merchants' Association, who considered the field was already served adequately by the "Herald." In their valedictory Hanley & Brown state that, "the united and persistent opposition, amounting to a boycott, which The Standard has met from the business men in Penticton, has forced us to the reluctant conclusion that a second paper is bound to be a losing proposition here, and we withdraw from the field with as good a grace as possible."

The "Princeton Star," which has been owned for the past two years by Mr. R. J. McDougall, of the "Penticton Herald," has been sold to Mr. J. A. Brown, of Penticton.

"Do you drink coffee?" asked the doctor of an aged patient.
"Yes," was the reply.
"Coffee," continued the M.D., "is a slow poison."
"Yes, very slow," replied the old man; "I have taken it daily for nearly eighty years."—Ex.

normal. Butter judges rely on smell chiefly to get the flavour. Do not show butter from over-ripe cream. The call is now for slightly ripened and then pasteurized milk for butter making. Mottled butter will not get a prize. Mottles or streaks in butter are caused by insufficient working and washing and uneven mixing of the salt.

When working the butter, the temperature should be neither too cold nor too hot. About 52 degrees to 56 degrees Fahr. is right. Use a thermometer. Below 52 degrees the butter will be hard to work. Over 56 degrees it is apt to get greasy.

All one-pound prints from the farm should be got up in regular bricks, the same size and shape as creamery butter. Farm butter is required by law to be labelled "dairy butter" on parchment paper.

Butter is usually judged according to the following points: Flavour, 50; grain and texture, 20; colour, 15; salt, 10; and package, 5. About three-quarters of an ounce of salt to every pound of butter is right.

Eggs

Candle your eggs before showing. A common sight at a fair is a plate of eggs, one or two of which, on being broken by the judge, show blood spots or other defects. These can easily be detected by the exhibitor by placing the eggs between the eye and a strong light in a dark place. They can be left at home and fed to visitors.

Potatoes

These should be as nearly the same colour, shape and size as possible, running from six to eight ounces in weight. The skin should be corky rather than smooth, indicating maturity. The eyes should be few and shallow, but this varies with the variety shown. Green ends, discoloration indicating disease either of the skin or flesh, scab and black spots (rhizoctonia) must not be allowed.

When cut across, the potato should cut hard. The greener and more watery the spud, the easier the knife blade pulls out. Potatoes should not be watery. Quality is further shown by the milkiness of the juice when the cut surface is scraped, indicating the amount of starch, and by the depth of the "cortical ring" just inside the skin, which should be one-quarter inch wide usually. This is the best part of the potato—the reason for thin peeling. Generally potatoes having a slight yellow tinge are of higher quality than those of pure white.

Onions

Onions should be uniform, as nearly alike as possible in colour, size and shape; about three inches across. Ripeness or maturity is very important, and is usually the deciding point. Lack of maturity is shown by softness at the stem end and large undried stem. Onions should be hard and firm with dry skins undamaged. The roots are removed and the stems are cut off or twisted off about three-quarters of an inch from the onion.

Beets

The points desired in beets are: uniformity, size about three inches across, not much larger; a deep red colour; nearly round and very smooth. Long beets should be two inches across and seven inches long. Beets should be washed and the roots left on, twisting off the top about three-quarters of an inch from the beet. Quality is desired, not size. Beets are always cut in judging and should show red all through, with no white, and should cut easily. The rings should be numerous and narrow, as in the onion.

Carrots

Quality rather than size also counts in regard to carrots. Every carrot should look alike and in size; the short variety should be about five inches long, with a blunt root-end; the intermediates about seven inches, and the long types about nine inches, with a long tapering root. Green tops count against the exhibit. The carrot should be smooth and regular all the way down and free from side roots. When cut, the core should be small and the flesh sweet. Carrots should be washed and the stems twisted off.

Cabbage

The main point with these is that they be firm, solid and heavy, and free from insect injury. Stalks and outer leaves are removed. Savoy cabbage is not as firm as other kinds.

Brussels Sprouts

The sprouts should be closely set along the stalk and firm, not loose. Leave the top leaves on but all lower ones should be removed.

Cauliflower

Heads, dense, white and solid, with no green showing through. Remove the stems and roots and all leaves, except about seven, which are cut off just below the top of the head, leaving protection for it.

CENSUS REVEALS WAR TOLL PAID BY SCOTLAND (From the London "Times")

The population of Scotland, as we have all read recently, only increased in the last decade by 2½ per cent., being the lowest rate of increase for 70 years. It is an honourable showing; for there is no question what it means. It is not that the Scots have given up having babies. They adhere to the old practice, indeed, with conspicuous steadfastness; and the rate of infant mortality during the decade was unprecedentedly low. No one needs to be told the reason of that small increase in population, however, who knows anything of the war and of the performances—the conspicuous service abroad and the mortality—of the 6th, 15th and 51st Divisions as of any other Scottish troops. In times to come the people will point with pride to that 2½ per cent., and Scotia's children will have no need to ask what she was doing in the Great War.

Also, in all human probability, Scotland will now make up for it by rapid growth of population in the coming decade. No one who has been in Scotland in the last two years can be other than confident of her immediate future. The war, in a sense, suited the Scots. It called out and gave scope for all their finest virtues. They are conscious of having done well; and there has been a visible quickening of the national spirit, national pride and energy which must inevitably show itself in new progress in every form. If the increasing English tourist travel—meaning, as it does, more hotels and houses built, more money flowing through every channel—helps in that advancement, so much the better.

The "Okanagan Commoner" reports that the average yield of wheat threshed in the vicinity of Endebby this year is 40 bushels to the acre, oats, 80 bushels, and barley, 60 bushels.

Summerland Municipal Council has advanced the sum of $200 to the Summerland Board of Trade, to cover the expenses of preparing a district fruit exhibit for the Provincial Fair at New Westminster.

Squash

The Green Hubbard should be deep green and the skin as warty as possible. No blemishes or injury must show, as they indicate the squash will not keep. In size they should be about 12 by 16 inches. Leave about 1½ inches of stem attached.

Marrows should be about 20 inches long, cylindrical and smooth, heavy and free from blemishes.

Summer crook-necks should be about a foot long, and the scalloped squash about eight inches across, with deep scallops.

Pumpkins

These should be heavy for their size rather than extra large.

Cucumbers

The main point is a great depth of flesh in proportion to seeds, when cut across. Do not show the shorter spine varieties in the long or green-house class. Pickling cukes are about two inches long.

Citrons

Size and weight are the important factors. The citrons shown should be alike in size, etc.; the flesh should be as deep as possible.

Tomatoes

Tomatoes should be ripe but not too much so; uniform, smooth and about three inches across usually, but size is dependent on variety. Firmness with good colour is the most important point, with greater thickness of the outer wall and of the sections. The number of sections should be large and the amount of pulp and seeds small.

Peas and Beans

Quality is most important here, and is indicated by the green colour and flavour of the peas, whether green or dry, and in the beans by the brittle, juicy nature of the pods.

Green Corn

Show the ears, stripped of all husk and silk and get them as uniform as possible, not too ripe for the best eating quality.

Celery

The points are: uniformity in size, length of stalk, degree of blanching, condition and colour. The bunch should be long and stout, with the stalks closely set. The roots must be cut off and the outer stalks removed. Stalks should be firm, heavy, brittle and tender.
